

Nail Surgery and Nail Diseases

Resident and specialist Course | 28-30 November 2022 | Porto, Portugal

Description

This course is part of the EADV Autumn School, a multi-course event taking place in Porto from the 28th to the 30th of November. NOTE BEFORE APPLYING - You will be able to apply to all the courses, but given their simultaneous nature, you will be able to attend only one.

Learning Objectives

1. The participants will become familiar with the nail unit's particularities including how to make a diagnosis and to treat a nail patient.
2. Specific aspects of inflammatory nail diseases and nail tumors will be presented.
3. Nail surgery techniques and outcomes will be discussed including patient selection, anesthesia, surgical techniques, and potential pitfalls.
4. The course participants are encouraged to bring own cases – illustrative, teaching or for diagnosis – to be discussed with the faculty and all participants.
